The Mainland Guardian of Saturday relates two recent accidents to Barnard & Co.'s stages: On Wednesday, July 30, as Barnard's extra was going along Lac in Hache valley, the borses, through the breaking of some harness, became ungovernable; fortunately, the stage caught a telegraph post, and stopped them in their wild career, the wagon tonges being broken, and the stage otherwise damaged. Later in the same day, when near the ranch of Mr. Thomas Roper, Barnard's mail stage horses got scared at some object, and the driver losing command of them, they ran off the road up a steep bank, bearly capsizing the coach.

It is intended to keep the picnic as select as possible, none but members of the order being abowed to dispose of entrance tickets, and the object of the gathering is not so much a pecuniary success, as one of sociability, accompanied by a pleasant day's amusement. Professor Haynes' band is to be in attendance from 2,p m., the games commencing shortly afterwards, and the "Young America" buss and other conveyances, will take visitors to and from the grounds at the moderate charge of 25 cts. each, children half price If the weather prove propitious, we know of no more pleasant spot than the locality sele ted for whiling away an enjoyable hour.

Baker promised that if this expedition was successful Rewinter and Kabriki's district in the name of the yet invented. In simplicity of construction, yet invented. In simplicity of construction Vicercy of Egypt. With the remainder of his force the Pasha then returned northward towards Fatiko, but on reaching a place called Lazarita (?) he and his men were unspectedly fired upon from the houses of the lave traders there. Thirty of Baker's soldiers were thus slain; the remainder entremeded themselves till assistance could be obtained, and then issued from their entrenchment to attack the traders, who held a strong position in dense thickets of reeds. The attack was very successful, the reed-beds were taken by storm, and 140 of the slave's party were slain, many prisoners being also captured, while the remainder fied inland. The captives, in explanation of the attack made upon Sir Samuel's command, said that the orders of their masters and of the chiefs riendly to them were to kill "the Nazarene" - meaning Baker-wherever and whenever they could. They ail confirmed this declaramouths, signed and sealed by each, and then orwarded to the Government of Soudan, at Khartoum, as a documentary proof of the malignancy of the celave-bunting merchants.

This chastisement cleared the whole country, about Gondokero and down toward Rewinka's terri ory. After a period of sepose, which was imperatively needed, Baker commenced systematical'y to organize the district which were in his possession. He made Estiko the chief town of the new territory, and app inted superintenden's at the other s ation-Betore long the natives settled down wonder fully well under the new government, and appeared exceedingly satisfied with the safety and quiet which it afforded. Samuel went finally northward, having established the reinforcements sent him along the annexed region, the negroes at Fatiko gave 'father' and 'master,' and looking upon him as their future protector. The term of the contract signed by Sir Samuel Baker and the English sogineers with the Khedive has now the Pasha embarked at Gondokoro in one o the steamers brought up country by the expedition. Another vessel of the same model bas been successfully carried as far as Gondokoro, and as soon as camel transport can be obtained it may be taken to the lakes, and set affoat there. **Baker has accomplished even more than was expected of h.m. He has penetrated as far southward as Mosindi, which is a point inear the head villages of the Chiefs Kabrili and Kamrasi. On reaching this place the Parha found that the ivory and slave traders had spread all kinds of evil rumors about the expedition, inflaming the native tribes against it. Kabriki had been informed by them that four Ministerial papers in On'ar o have yet published that part of McMullen's narrative which includes the commentary evidence of tele, rams, letters, receipts, drafts, etc., with the signatures of the ministers appended.
